Written Resolution Of The Trust

The purpose of a trustee written resolution is to make and document a decision by the trustees without a meeting of the trustees taking place. Trust statutes in a number of jurisdictions do not address the question of whether or not trustees may make and evidence their decisions by written resolutions as an alternative to meetings and minutes.

August 7, 2019. An essential starting point for consideration of trust income and how that income is to be distributed is to look at the trust deed. This very central document sets out the rules and expectations for the governance and operation of the trust and the powers that can be exercised by the trustee. Although it can be commonly assumed that the trust deeds of similar types of trusts (such as family trusts, fixed trusts, public unit trusts and so on) are generally alike, the reality ...
